

Attention Myers Park's Students and Parents! The SAT (Scholastic Aptitude Test) and PSAT (Pre-Scholastic Aptitude Test) have changed! The Princeton Review has provided us with information to share with you outlining the updated changes.

Old SAT

New SAT

Verbal:

Name: Verbal Reasoning	Critical Reasoning
Reading Comprehension	Reading Comprehension
Sentence Completions	Sentence Completions
Analogies	Paragraph-length Critical Reading
Questions types: Multiple Choice	Multiple Choice
Time: 75 minutes (one 15 min. and two 30 min. sections)	70 minutes (one 20 min. and two 25 min. sections)
Score: V 200-800	CR 200-800

Math:

Name: Math	Math
Content: Basic Arithmetic Algebra I Geometry	Same as current SAT, plus Algebra II content
Questions Types: Multiple Choice	Multiple Choice
Student-Produced Responses (Grid-In)	Student Produced Responses (Grid-In)
Quantitative Comparisons	No more Quantitative Comparisons
Time: 75 minutes (one 15 min. and two 30 min. sections)	70 minutes (one 20 min. and two 25 min. sections)
Score: M 200-800	M 200-800

Writing:

Name: None	Writing
Content: None	Grammar Usage Word Choice
Question Types: None	Multiple-Choice Essay
Time: None	50 minutes (one 25 min. essay, one 25 min. multiple choice)
Proposed Score: None	Composite: W 200-800 Sub Scores: Essay 2-12 Multiple Choice 20-80

Complete Test

Time: 3 hours, including an unscored 30 minute experimental section	3 hours, 35 minutes, including an unscored 25 minute experimental section
Score: M 200-800, V 200-800	M 200-800, CR 200-800, W 200-800

Current PSATNew PSAT*Verbal:

Reading Comprehension	Short Reading Passages added
Sentence Completions	Analogies Eliminated
Analogies

Math:

Basic Arithmetic	Higher-level content added (but no Algebra II)
Algebra I	Quantitative Comparison questions eliminated
Geometry

Writing:

Multiple-choice questions, 30 minutes	Content unchanged, time reduced to 25 minutes
---------------------------------------	---

The entire content of this document has been prepared by The Princeton Review

*SAT and SAT II are registered trademarks of the College Board. PSAT/NMSQT (PSAT) is a registered trademark jointly owned by the College Board and the National Merit Scholarship Corporation. The Princeton Review is not affiliated with Princeton University.